CLASS ACT

The best students in Toronto fashion showed why they're top of the class at the 2016 Toronto Fashion Incubator (TFI) New Labels event held at One King West. Emerging designers Angelene Fenuta for Angelène, Defne Husrevoglu for Gun Control, Karen Quirion for KQK and Peggy Sue Deaven-Smitnieks for Peggy Sue Collection wowed 300 guests as models walked the runway in their eye-catching creations. Peggy Sue Collection took home the Suzanne Rogers Award for Most Promising New Label, winning a $25,000 prize and garnering an upcoming feature in Flare magazine. The award was presented by Suzanne herself. "Every year, I look forward to TFI New Labels and every year the designers excite me anew," she said. "Never before has the Canadian landscape been more exciting."
